DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to amendment filed 08/22/2005.
2. The drawings filed on 12/05/2003 are approved by the examiner.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-18 are allowed.

Reasons for Allowance

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The primary reason for allowance of the claims 1,2,5-7, 11-16 is the inclusion of current control unit operable to control the current drawn by a current draw unit from an electrical path to decrease the difference between a predetermined DC voltage and a voltage received by a load, wherein the current control unit controls the drawn current when the voltage supplied to the load varies to be higher or lower than a predetermined voltage value.

The primary reason for allowance of the claims 3,4, is the inclusion of first current change unit provided in said electrical path between said current draw unit and said load to be in parallel to said load, operable to supply a current to said electrical path in a case where a current received by said load increased and draw a current from said electrical path in a case where the current received by said load decreased.

The primary reason for allowance of the claims 8-10 is the inclusion of second current change unit, provided in said electrical path between said power supply and said current draw unit to be in parallel to said current draw unit, operable to supply a current to said electrical path in a case where the current drawn by said current draw unit increased and draw a current from said electrical path in a case where the current drawn by said current draw unit decreased.

The primary reason for allowance of the claims 17,18 is the inclusion of wherein said control unit controls the drawn current when power supply is on or off.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Kitagawa (US 20020171399) discloses power supply apparatus (Fig. 1) for supplying a voltage through an electrical path to a load 10 and current draw unit 14 operable to draw a current from the electrical path and a current control unit 24 operable to control 21 the current drawn by said current draw unit 14 from said electrical path. While Kitagawa discloses control unit controls the drawn current when the voltage supplied to the load 10 varies to be lower than a predetermined voltage value it does not expressly disclose that the current control unit controls the drawn current when the voltage supplied to the load 10 varies to be higher than a predetermined voltage value so as to decrease the difference between a predetermined DC voltage and the voltage supplied to load.

Johnson (US 6,717,389 B1) discloses power supply apparatus (Fig. 4) for supplying 410 a voltage through an electrical path to a load 440 and current draw unit 470 operable to draw a current (I_T) from the electrical path and a current control unit 460 operable to control the current drawn by the current draw unit 470 from the electrical path. While Johnson discloses control unit 460 controls the drawn current so as to maintain a substantially constant voltage across the load it does not expressly disclose that the control unit controls the drawn current when the voltage supplied to the load varies to be higher or lower than a predetermined voltage value.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
